

CASA CHILAMATE

Design: ALTUS Architecture + Design
Location: Peninsula Papagayo, Costa Rica

This demonstration house is designed to create an escape, a playful retreat. The character of the house echos the organic qualities of the trees, floating off the ground. The spaces are nestled around the trees, floating off the ground. The structure and roof forms evoke a memorable image and utilization of wood construction. Walls are treated as screens which shape and reveal spaces, establishing a playful sense of mystery.