

TOWER PROPOSAL- LOTTE WORLD BUSAN, SOUTH KOREA

Design: ALTUS Architecture + Design
 Proposal For: PDI World Group

This mixed-use tower proposal, developed in partnership with PDI World Group, draws inspiration from the dongbaek flower. Organic, curved petal forms step back, opening views and light to the south. Trellis and screen pieces filter light and reduce wind loading on the building. The modified triangular base provides efficient stability, reducing structural needs. Glazing tones change as the building rises, breaking up the vertical scale and helping define the building form.

Images provided by PDI World Group.